IMPORTANT - PLEASE READ

If you irrigate your land and/ or land you lease for commercial agricultural production, you are required to comply with state and regional water quality regulations under the Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Board (CVRWQCB) Irrigated Lands Regulatory Program (ILRP) Waste Discharge Order (approved Jan 2019). Currently, there is no minimum acreage requirements for this program. Commercial irrigators not in compliance receive substantial fine letters from the Water Board.

PNSSNS is a volunteer group of farmers and ranchers which provide program oversight, communicate regulatory issues, conduct best management practices (BMP) education and outreach events, provide newsletters and conduct an Annual Meeting in February on behalf of the members. PNSSNS coordinates water quality sampling and monitoring and provides assistance to members. PNSSNS is responsible for many reports and plans to the Water Board to keep our members in compliance. PNSSNS is a 501(c) 3 non-profit organization that works on your behalf yet must work through the Sac Valley Water Quality Coalition for compliance with the Irrigated Lands Regulatory Program.

Explanation of Fees

The annual membership fee and per acreage fee pays for regulatory compliance, monitoring and admin expenses to enroll you into the regulatory program and keep records and reporting for compliance. The fees charged include a mandatory acreage fee to the CA State Water Control Board in addition to the costs for representative water quality monitoring sites, sampling, analysis and reporting. Other regulatory costs include costs paid to the Sacramento Valley Water Quality Coalition who are supposed to advocate on your behalf and provide reporting directly to the waterboards. All fees are reviewed each year by the seven member PNSSNS Board of Directors who strive to keep the required dues to an absolute minimum.

New members who just acquired irrigated property need to complete the membership form, pay the required dues, complete a Notice of Confirmation(NOC), sign all forms and return to PNSSNS to be in compliance. Keep copies for your records.

New members who have been engaged in irrigated, commercial agricultural production and did not join previously, must submit membership form and pay back dues as required by PNSSNS.

These forms can be found on the PNSSNS website www.cleanwaters.info and they are part of the regulatory requirement for all members. If you are a new owner of the property or have just began with irrigated agriculture, join as a new member.

PNSSNS does not endorse nor is responsible for any regulatory action by the State and Central Valley Regional Water Quality Control Boards.
